JGRLS Highlights Kanopy and Its Thanksgiving Film Festival in November

PASCAGOULA, Miss. — The Jackson-George Regional Library System is highlighting Kanopy as its featured electronic resource for November, giving library cardholders free access to thousands of films, documentaries, educational programs and family favorites.

To help families make screen time a shared experience during the holidays, Kanopy is featuring its Thanksgiving Film Festival, a curated collection of family-friendly films and shows selected for viewers of different ages and interests.

“The holidays are made for slowing down, coming together and savoring the moments that matter most,” said Stephanie Packer, public relations and marketing specialist for JGRLS. “Kanopy gives families another way to spend meaningful time together while enjoying quality entertainment at no additional cost.”

Patrons can explore the Thanksgiving Film Festival, read title synopses and select something everyone around the table can enjoy. Kanopy is available anytime and anywhere with a valid JGRLS library card and internet access.

To begin streaming, visit www.jgrls.org, scan the QR code on the November E-Resource Highlight flyer or go directly to www.kanopy.com/en/jgrls.

For assistance obtaining a library card or accessing Kanopy, visit any Jackson-George Regional Library System location.
